

I am Christiaan Titus, born more than three decades ago in Namibia, Africa. I got married in 1992 with Yolinde and am the proud father of daughter, Stianlee, born in 1993.

I am currently a Career Development Coordinator assisting individuals navigating a life transforming change journey with heart, skill and sensitivity. I have 6 years experience in development and 7 years in teaching. The experiences ranged from exhilarating to frustrating, from intellectually stimulating to psychologically revealing. All in all, it was a rewarding, engaging and challenging time in my life.

My greatest professional and personal desire is to make a positive impact in the lives of others. I endeavour to serve as the port from which others set sail upon their journeys to a myriad of destinations. This oftentimes perilous journey can be made significantly smoother with the guidance and assistance I will provide in their journey.

I have a doctoral degree in Education from the University of South Africa, focusing on career guidance and counselling services and with particular emphasis on career guidance in Canada, United States and Namibia. This qualification does, however, not influence the way I view myself or other individuals. I am still very humble; willing to work in any capacity; support any individual; and open to any and all suggestions. I am willing to do anything and never regard myself to good for anything.

I am flexible, resourceful and adaptable to any situation and draws on many years of personal and professional development associations and travel. I am self-motivated, independent and hardworking and learn new procedures and policies very quickly and effortlessly.
